HOME TELEPHONE COMPANY SOLD TO TOLEDO PARTIES

Syndicate That is Buying Up Properties at Receivers' Sales.

May be Move of J. P. Morgan & Company.

MANAGER PAKE WILL REMAIN.

The Paducah Home Telephone company has been purchased for $50,000 by T. A. Pedley, acting as agent for the Central Home Security company, of Toledo, which is the head of the great pool of telephone interests composed of the creditors, trustees, and bondholders of the different companies. The sale was made by Col. J. D. Powers, special commissioner, and was sold in pursuance to an order of the United States court.

The order, declaring the property should be sold, stated that no bid of less than $50,000 would be accepted, and so when the sale was made Colonel Powers announced that no one would be allowed to bid until $50,000 or the equivalent had been deposited with him. Mr. Pedley promptly deposited a certified check with the special commissioner, and as no others made the deposit, the property was sold to the agent of the Central Home Security company. The property includes the Paducah exchange on South Fifth street and also the franchise granted the company by the city of Paducah, and the telephone lines in the city. S. L. Pake has been manager of the Paducah exchange for several months, and no change will be made in the management until the sale is confirmed by the federal court. It is said after the confirmation of the sale that extensive improvements may be made, and the system made one of the best independent lines in the country. It is possible that a deal will be made with the much discussed J. P. Morgan telephone merger, although definite information could not be ascertained.

BUYERS ALL BACK FROM THE MARKET

LOCAL STORES READY TO START SEASON—BUSINESS OF WEEK IS GOOD.

Bank clearings, week, $691,531
Same week last year, 722,836

The bank clearings this week show a slight reduction from the corresponding week of 1909, but business this week has been good in all lines of trade. There has not been any deal of consequence to mark the week except, possibly, the announcement of the arrangements for the consolidation of the City National bank and the American-German National bank.

The retail trade has been strongest this week. An early Easter will stimulate the business of the stores, and now the merchants are busy arranging their spring stock. The pleasant weather has been responsible for the movement in retail lines as it enabled people to reach the business district without inconvenience. Practically all of the buyers have returned from the eastern markets, and Paducah merchants have bought heavily of spring goods, anticipating a good trade.

The pleasant weather has stirred the farmers to activity. The high prices of all farm products has given the farmers encouragement, and no doubt large crops of every product will be produced. From all of the signs and traditions of a severe winter it seems assured that a bumper crop will be raised this year.

Dr. Robertson Out of It

Dr. J. D. Robertson said he was not a candidate for county physician and would not permit his name to go before the fiscal court as seeking the office. Some of his friends started the boom for the office, but Dr. Robertson said he would not run for the office.

Postal Savings Bank Amendment, Preventing Purchase of 2 Percent Government Bonds, Passes Senate

Root Opposes Amendment, Because He Thinks Government Will Have No Security to Protect Patrons.

Washington, March 5.—The amendment to the postal savings bank bill by Senator Borah, providing that no funds should be invested in state funds or other securities, paying less than two and one-fourth per cent, was carried in the senate this afternoon. Under it, it would be impossible to invest the funds in two per cent government bonds. The vote on the Borah amendment was: Ayes, 49; nays, 1. The Smoot amendment was then adopted as amended, 46 to 24. Senator Cummins had moved to amend the bill so that money could be removed from banks for the purchase of government bonds only in the event of war. It was beaten 40 to 18.

Root Opposes It. There were speeches by Senators Root, Carter, Cummins, Rayner, Clapp, Borah, Clay, Newlands and a number of others representing almost as many views as there were speakers.

Senator Root said his idea was to afford the people an opportunity to invest their earnings and at the same time put themselves in the position of supporting their government. Therefore he had introduced his amendment, providing for the investment of funds in government securities.

Effect Upon Business. Mr. Root looked upon the effect upon business of the proposed legislation as of far greater importance to the country than the constitutional view. He pointed out the serious aspect of the assumption by the government of obligations which probably would amount to at least $500,000,000, which would be secured by no resources except the deposits in the banks.

Of these banks, he said, there were more than 22,000 state and national, most of them safe, but probably some unsafe. Moreover, no reserve was to be required, and it should be borne in mind that by no means all of them would be under government or state supervision.

"When panics come, where will this bill leave the government of the United States, with its $500,000,000 of obligations to postal savings banks depositors and with out any security except that supplied by the banks, which can no more pay the government than they can pay any one else?" asked Mr. Root. "Instead of the bankers and brokers going to the wall, the treasury of the United States will suspend payment, the credit of the government will be destroyed. Then what will become of the industrial system of the country?" He explained how the government's system of keeping a working balance in the treasury had been utilized in 1907, an order written in the president's office to avert even more serious consequences than had befallen. "The work of the securities market," said Senator Root, "is the one and only life preserver now have in our financial system. It is all very well to talk that, but there rests upon us a higher duty and that is the maintenance of the credit of the country, and on so much as a senator of the United States I cannot give my assent to a measure which will imperil that credit."

THE ROOS PLANT.

Efforts of the committee of the Commercial club, seeking to raise $10,000 bonus to keep the Roos Manufacturing company in Paducah, are not meeting with the most encouraging success. Local stockholders, the concern, who are anxious to keep the plant here, voluntarily assumed over 600 of the loss of the plant themselves, and ask other business men to divide the loss among themselves. The amount the concern would require to consider building here would be some more than $20,000. This matter that seems to be generally misunderstood.

Includes Ship Lines. Steamship lines will be included in a paragraph prohibiting transportation corporations from acquiring interest in the capital stock of competing lines, according to a decision reached by the house interstate commerce committee today on a party vote. The amendment offered by Representative Richardson (Dem., Alabama), to secure a physical valuation of railroads was voted down by Republicans.

FOREMAN AND GRESHAM SHIP CARLOAD AUTOS TO MAYFIELD

Foreman and Gresham delivered a car load of Ford autos to their Mayfield agent, W. L. Shelton Thursday, making the second car load the capital of Graves has taken of the 1910 models. Foreman and Gresham also sold a big Overland to Mr. Joseph L. Friedman today.

BOND ISSUE AMENDMENT PASSES LOWER HOUSE

City Solicitor Campbell has received a telegram from Frankfort, announcing that the bill has passed the house, authorizing the general councils of cities of the second class, to issue ten years, special assessment bonds, for street and sewer work. It is pending in the senate.

Inspector's Report on Prisons of Kentucky

In his report to Governor Willson on the state penitentiaries Inspector Thatcher says:

The chief causes for the heavy amount of punishment at the Frankfort penitentiary have been, first, the demoralization that usually attends a change of wardens or of prison management; second, the inexperience of new wardens, officers and guards in dealing with prisoners; third, the refractory attitude assumed by prisoners when new men are introduced into prison control; fourth, the contract labor system; fifth, the further and not unimportant fact that the Frankfort penitentiary, being at the state capital, in the very highway of public scrutiny and discussion, has ever been and will ever be the storm center wherein discussion and scandals have sprung up, and will spring up, on the slightest provocation, such agitation having the inevitable tendency toward the impairment of prison discipline.

Instruments of Punishment. The whipping straps used under the various wardens, except, perhaps, Chinn, at the Frankfort penitentiary have been sufficiently heavy to inflict severe punishment if the person administering same so desired; but as compared with similar implements of punishment, used in other penitentiaries, same have not been unduly heavy or brutal. That the straps used under Warden Chinn were lighter than those which had theretofore or which have since been used, and that, as a consequence, punishment under Warden Chinn was lighter than under the other wardens.

The white male prisoners at the Frankfort penitentiary are whipped over an undergarment, while the colored prisoners are whipped on the bare skin. That is an unjust discrimination and should not be tolerated. The punishment administered to both classes of prisoners should be exactly alike.

Few women have received corporal punishment in the Frankfort penitentiary. That it is to be doubted if such punishment should ever be administered, some other means being found to enforce discipline. In any event, if it is to be administered it should be by the matron and never by, or in the presence of, the men.

At the Frankfort Penitentiary under Wardens Lillard, Hawkins, Chinn and Mudd trials have been given, or inquiries have been made, by the warden or deputy warden in charge, before prisoners have been punished upon charges preferred against them. Trials were not customarily given to the prisoners at the branch penitentiaries.

FIFTY THOUSAND GO ON STRIKE IN PHILADELPHIA

Union Officer Declares Twice That Many Will be Out Before Night.

Typos Stand by Their Contracts in Crisis.

READING MEN GET ADVANCE.

Philadelphia, March 5.—Charles Hope, secretary of the Central Labor Union, told the United Press this morning that 55,000 men have gone out on the general strike, and it is expected the number will be augmented during the day. Hope added that 15,000 non-union men joined the strike, and when reports have been received from each secretary of the 400 locals, it will be shown that 125,000 men are out.

A proclamation was made to unorganized labor. All unorganized workers are urged by the committee to assist the general strike by ceasing work at midnight and to refrain from working at their usual occupations until the committee of ten, through the Central Labor Union and the United Building Trades Council, orders resumption of work.

Another proclamation calls for a public demonstration by the working people of Philadelphia in Independence square this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Permanent headquarters for the strikers have been established in the Allied Building Trades Council rooms.

It was stated by the committee of ten that they had received hundreds of letters today from bodies of unskilled workmen not affiliated with unions, declaring their intention of joining the strike.

F. J. Keenan, business agent of the machinists, also received a letter this afternoon from a knitting machinery firm employing 320 men, stating that its factories had been closed, pending a settlement of the strike.

Philadelphia Typographical Union No. 2 will not participate in the general strike.

The question was referred to a committee of five, who this afternoon decided on not going out.

Mayor Reyburn said that the directors of the transit company had reaffirmed their position not to take up the grievances with the union, but were willing to meet the nine employees of the company. The strikers, he said, are not employees and the company will not treat with them until they re-enter the service as new men. The company has extended the time for taking back the strikers to March 8.

The committee of nine employees is to be selected as follows:

Three from those re-employed from the men now on strike; three from those who have remained in the service of the company during the strike, and these six to select three more from the whole body of employees. The company will not recognize any of the strikers for service on this committee unless they first return to work.

As to arbitration with the strikers under the act of 1893, the company says that it is not feasible, as the relationship between the employees and the employer had been severed.

A board of arbitration composed of master and journeymen in this trade. The bricklayers' organization is unaffiliated with the Central Labor Union, and is one of the few bodies incorporated under state law.

The union brewery workers, numbering 2,000 men, have referred to their national officers the question of a sympathetic strike. The brewery men are working under an agreement after a hard fight and are hesitating about going into a sympathetic strike without the sanctions of the national organization.

Advance at Reading.—The announcement was made today by the local street car company that wages of all employees, motormen and conductors, on the trolley cars will be increased 25 cents the day. This action is generally accepted as an effort by the company to prevent difficulties similar to those in Philadelphia.

Liquor Men Fear Extra Session of Assembly and May Make Democrats Vote For the Financial Legislation

At Any Rate, Senator Arnet Introduces His Bond Issue Bill in Senate Again; White Slave Bill Passes.

Frankfort, Ky., March 5. (Special.)—Senator Arnet in the senate again introduced his $500,000 bond issue bill. It is claimed the liquor men fear an extra session if there is no financial legislation and they may pass it.

The house passed a bill to do away with the white slave traffic.

The confederate pension bill was passed by senate after a substitute had been defeated. The bill is now up to the governor.

By laying on the table the motion of Senator Thomas to reconsider the vote by which the Waggoner county unit bill was referred to the committee on rules, temperance legislation was killed for the present session, and the bill buried. This action was taken after a wrangle, in which Senator Cureton charged that the rules committee was packed against the bill and had voted 9 to 0 against temperance legislation even before any bill had been introduced.

The Governor in Charge. The rule of the lobby, the "Big Three," "Big Four" or "Big Five," whichever it is, with the Whallen domination and the odorous rules of the senate are now at an end, as far as this session of the legislature is concerned, and Gov. A. E. Willson is at the helm. From now on there is no chance for any bill not satisfactory to the chief executive to become a law as the result of anything which can be done by this legislature. It is now proper to indicate the calendar, "if attempting to stop a vicious measure, instead of indicating the hour of adjournment, to stop it."

The ten days rule, under the constitution, is now in force, and no majority of either house can suspend or alter it to provide the necessities for the passage of a pet measure. The interest-bearing warrant bill, passed by the house, has not yet passed the senate, and the senate bond issue bill has failed even to pass that body. The governor has the whip

BURLY TOBACCO IS BEING RAISED

BALLARD COUNTY FARMERS FIND IT MORE PROFITABLE THAN THE DARK.

Farmers in the vicinity of Barlow are raising burley tobacco and are successful to an encouraging degree. W. C. Phipps stated that two and a half acres yielded him 1,150 pounds of burley to the acre, averaging $447 while two acres of dark tobacco averaged 750 pounds or $128 to the acre. J. I. Moore with slightly stronger land made 1,350 pounds of burley to the acre. A number of planters experimented with the burley last year and found that it yielded much larger profits with no more labor, and the number will be increased this year. They say the grade equals any Kentucky tobacco. The dark tobacco growers welcome the innovation, as it reduces the acreage of dark tobacco and enhances the value of that product, which is limited to about eighteen counties of western Kentucky and west Tennessee.

Association Sales.

During the past week at the Planters' Protective association warehouse, Second and Jefferson streets, 17 hogheads of tobacco were sold at prices ranging from 9 to 11 1/2 cents. Mr. M. M. Tucker, who is in charge, said today that very little tobacco has been shipped here lately, but a good season has opened and he expects a large amount here in the next few weeks.

The next regular grading and selling day will be the first week in April. All buyers are notified of this. In the meantime small sales are made. There is a good supply of the crop on hand at the local warehouse at present.

Sales at Mayfield. Mayfield, Ky., March 5.—Hundreds of loads of tobacco were delivered in the city and sold at good prices. The leaf readily sold at from $7.75 to $10.25 and the hogs at from $4 to $5.

NO SCANDAL.

According to members of the committee, which investigated the Rivers hospital unjust suspicion is aroused by the statement that a bill for $7.80 for furnishing rubber gloves for a local physician at the hospital, was presented to the finance committee. The doctors do order such things through the hospital, as they are purchased that way more cheaply, but the doctors always reimburse the hospital, and no secret is made of the practice. There is no scandal connected with the institution.

LOUIS JAMES, THE TRAGEDIAN, DIES

GREAT ACTOR AND COMPANY ENTERTAINED THE SNOW-BOUND PASSENGERS.

Helena, Mont., March 5.—Louis James, the famous tragedian, died here this morning of heart disease. He was touring the west in Shakespearean roles. The James company a few days ago was stalled on a train in the Washington mountains and to pass the time the "Merchant of Venice" was played on an improvised stage in the baggage car at Mr. James' suggestion.

The company will be disbanded here. The body will be taken to Kansas City tomorrow for burial.

Mr. Richard Scott, of this city, is with the James company.

Sidewalk Work Starts April 1

Work of laying the concrete sidewalks on Twelfth street, Clay street and Fountain avenue, will be begun April 1. A. J. Miller & Sons, of Lynchburg, successful bidders, have written that their equipment will arrive the last of March, and it is intended to begin active work April 1.

AVALANCHE MAY HAVE OVERWHELMED RESCUERS

Glenogle, B. C., March 5.—It is reported here today that two train crews engaged with rotary plows in clearing the snowdrifts in Rogers' pass on the Canadian Pacific railroad have been buried by a second avalanche. Direct communication is cut off. Over 50 men were working near the pass. It is possible they have been merely hoisted in and cut off from communication. Rogers' pass is almost the northernmost point of the Canadian Pacific and is at a high altitude. Railroad officials in Montreal admit they heard of it, but deny details. Revelstoke, B. C., wires that they are trying to get in communication, but so far authentic details are unheard. Avalanches and floods have disrupted wires.

The Canadian Pacific headquarters today announced that between 70 and 100 are buried in the Rogers snowdrift. They say it is possible the buried men sought refuge in many snow sheds there, which is the most dangerous point along the road.

ENGLISH DEFICIT IS ASTOUNDING

HUNDRED FIFTY MILLIONS IN TIME OF PEACE CONFRONTS NATION.

London, March 5.—A deficit of $150,000,000, unprecedented in time of peace, will face the government at the end of the fiscal year March 31, according to estimates today of the government's abject finances. These estimates include petroleum, whisky, tobacco and salmon licenses, automobile licenses, duties revenue stamps and land taxes and also the income tax. The total is much as to astound the nation. It is owing to the legislative deadlock.

Fairbanks Entertained. London, March 5.—Former Vice-President Fairbanks and wife were guests at luncheon today of the prince of Wales at Marlborough house. They will leave for home a week from now, putting in much intervening time sightseeing.

SENATOR THOMAS POPULAR FIGURE AT STATE CAPITAL

Personality and History of Man Who Stood Against Louisville Ring.

Well Educated, Has Traveled, is Banker and Lawyer.

MANY DEMOCRATS WANT HIM.

Frankfort, Ky., March 5.—On the extreme right of the president of the senate, and about three rows back, sits a little man, of mild countenance and gentle speech, whose hair is tinged with silver. When he rises to speak everyone pays attention. It is not because he is an orator. Indulgence in rhetoric is not a trait that marks his utterances. It is because he usually has something to say that is worth hearing and plainly said.

This man is Claude M. Thomas, of Bourbon county, one of the Democrats in the senate who have not bowed their knees to the Baal of the "third house" at some time during the session, and who now looms up as a possible leader in the fight against machine politics in Kentucky.

Throughout the session Senator Thomas has been his own boss, yielding only to the dictates of his untrammelled conscience, voting with consistent courage to express the convictions which he was sent to Frankfort by his constituents to support.

Record for Independence.

Senator Thomas was one of the thirteen Democrats who voted against the gag rule proposed by Senators Linn and Combs at the beginning of the session. Senator Thomas is the man who called the county unit bill out of committee, and has on every occasion voted to advance the measure to the orders of the day. Senator Thomas was one of the two Democrats who had the bravery to oppose the Whallen machine and the united forces of the organized lobby Wednesday in casting their votes against the infamous ripper bill.

The name of Senator Thomas has been mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination for governor. Two objections have been raised by those otherwise friendly to him. It has been said that he is too mild and gentle in manner, and that he is not sufficiently well known throughout the state.

Now Forced Into Limelight.

Since Wednesday's incident in the senate chamber these objections have vanished. Senator Thomas may not be a rampant and blustering politician, but no man will question his courage, his veritable determination, his inflexible loyalty to principle and decency after his lone stand against the outrageous conduct of his party organization. As for the assertion that he is not well known, it will no longer be urged with truthfulness, for he has come at a single bound into a position of pre-eminence among his fellows, and the name of Claude Thomas will be heralded as that of a hero in every corner of Kentucky.

The words of Senator Thomas will be a slogan in the coming fight for the regeneration of Kentucky politics, and it is almost inevitable that they should force the man who uttered them into a position of leadership in his party.

"I am a Democrat," he declared, "but I blush as a Democrat at the proceedings that took place here this morning. We have no more right to be sitting here now than we will have at midnight tonight."

When Senator Dowling, after denouncing the bill, said that he had to vote for it, Senator Thomas cried with passion in his voice:

"I don't have to do it, praise God, and I won't do it, either."

There is a sentence that is going to set the state on fire with zeal for righteousness and conscience in politics. The 80,000 Democrats to whom Senator Thomas referred as having the courage at times to vote against the straight party ticket, will take up that declaration on independence and make it ring from corner to corner of Kentucky. It will sound the death knell of the machine that now has its grip upon the throat of the Democracy.

Senator Claude M. Thomas is a citizen of Paris, in Bourbon county, where he enjoys the affection and respect of men of both parties. This is evidenced by the fact that he comes to Frankfort elected by acclamation, no man being found who was willing to oppose him. Before being elected senator he served two Tobacco Market. Louisville, March 5.—There were two new records for the season made on the local breaks. At the Louisville house dark tobacco from Monroe county, to be used as twist wrappers, was sold at $13.50, while at the People's house burley intended for cigarettes brought $27.50. The offerings on the local breaks follow:

Burley, 364; dark, 217. Original inspection, 523; reviews, 58; total, 581. Rejections, 99. First sale Tuesday at the People's house. Kentucky warehouse sold 28 hhd. burley at $10 to $16, and 32 hhd. dark at $5.20 to $11.

The State warehouse sold 29 hhd. of burley at $9.70 to $17.25.

The Pickett warehouse sold 50 hhd. of burley at $10.50 to $16.75 and 30 hhd. dark at $5.40 to $12.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 5.—The loose tobacco market was very active. Offerings were as heavy as at any previous time during the season, sales aggregating 300,000 pounds. Sales were not completed until afternoon. While the record price of $15.25 was not reached, quotations were fully as high, according to grades offered, these being low to medium. Prices ranged $4.69 to $13.

If anything, receipts were even heavier than preceding days, the rush being a surprise to all, as it was thought nearly all the tobacco was in. An extra large crop of tobacco was in. Put out throughout this part of the state.

Prices have ruled very high all this season and instead of decreasing have climbed upward steadily ever since the season opened.

Dun's Weekly Review. New York, March 5.—With a somewhat severe winter drawing to a close and with a subsidence of excitement in financial markets, the industrial and trade situation shows improvement, and the outlook for the spring season is promising. It is easy to pick flaws in the situation, certain aspects of which are unfavorable.

Among these may be mentioned the increasing excess of exports over imports, the balance of trade in favor of this country during the current fiscal year being the smallest since 1896; and but for foreign purchases of American securities during the recent decline, there would probably be heavy exports of gold. Then the bond market is unfavorable for large floatations, and this retards the extensive works of construction.

Heavy liabilities of defaulting concerns during February due, however, chiefly to four large failures, is not a pleasant incident. A slight tendency to reduction in building operations is noted. There is also considerable disposition to wait for congressional legislation and court decisions before entering upon large business commitments. But, in spite of all these things, the fact remains that a big volume of business, at least closely approximating normal, is carried on.

Bank Clearings for Week. New York, March 5.—Dun's review says:

"Bank clearings for the first week of March show very heavy settlements through the banks, total exchanged for all leading cities in the United States amounting to $3,142,626,789, which is 3.4 per cent larger than last year and 4.3 per cent in excess of those for the corresponding week in 1906, both periods of marked activity. New York city contributes very little to the gain, chiefly, if not wholly, because of reduced activity in speculative operations this year.

Outside this center there is a considerable increase, and Philadelphia, Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City and New Orleans make good returns compared with both years. Several cities report a decrease, but they are very small and not especially significant.

GRAND CONCERT COMPANY

The Constance Balfour Concert company which is to appear here Wednesday at the Kentucky under the auspices of the Woman's club, is a unique organization in as much as it is made up of artists all of a high rank. While of course, Mme. Constance Balfour is the star and the main attraction, at the same time she is supported by artists all of a high degree of ability, therefore the programs given are notable for their general excellence.

Mme. Constance Balfour is an American. She took up the study of the voices, first in this country and later in Europe, under Shrigilla and Lapierre, of Paris and Heilmann, of Berlin.

Since her recent return to this country Mme. Balfour has sung extensively throughout the south and west, where she has been acclaimed in no uncertain terms as having one of the finest voices before the public today, and her charming manner and grace of bearing have won for her scores of admirers in all parts of the country.

One of the artists supporting Mme. Balfour is Anton Navratil. Mr. Navratil was born in Wisowitz, Moravia, and is the son of Johann Navratil, the Bohemian violinist, who some years since acquired so much prominence throughout Germany and Austria-Hungary. He studied piano and theory under Novak, then head professor at the Royal Conservatory at Brunn, Moravia, and violin under Anton Snejdrla. Two years later he entered the private class of Frycek, then conductor of the Imperial orchestra at Vltin, under whom he continued both his studies of violin and theory for four years. After two years special preparatory schooling with Johann Fojtik in his native city he entered the class of Sevik in Prague, Bohemia, where he spent two years previous to his coming to America, in finishing studies with the celebrated master.

Another member of the Constance Balfour Concert company is an American worthy of mention, Henri LaBonte, the tenor. Mr. LaBonte is an American but of French extraction his grandfather having been born in Paris. His voice, a tenor of magnificent proportions, has been greatly admired both in this country and in Europe. Mr. LaBonte has been a pupil of the great tenors, Victor Maura, Alcega, and Shrigilla. Mr. LaBonte was a Campanelli with the St. Louis January 23 chistry, receiving of phony or ovations ever accorded the greatest singer in that city, a public In choosing Harrie Donald as accompanist, on Mac has been exceedingly Balfour Mme. March 12, at the Kentucky, nee and night, comes Port White's production of Goethe's mortal tragedy, "Faust."

"The House of a Thousand Candles" will be presented at the Kentucky March 11. Its name alone is suggestive of the theme which pervades the story. Its mystery is delightful and its weirdness enchanting.

The great comedy success of the century, "The Traveling Salesman," by James Forbes, author of "The Chorus Lady," will be seen at the Kentucky theater March 28. Among the prominent members of the company with Austin Webb, Rosalind Coghlan, Florence Hackett, Harriet Sheldon, Dan Baker, Joseph Sullivan, Gideon Budton, Jack L. Newton, Scott Siggins, George M. Devere, George Smithfield, John Von Statten, and those two clever child actors, Janet Hackett and Master Albert Hackett.

Tim Murphy's career has been an unbroken series of personal artistic triumphs, but he has not always been fortunate in his vehicle. In the present instance, with a popular play and a congenial role, he seems to have acquired the just deserts of unflinching conscientiousness in his chosen field of endeavor. Mr. Werba, his manager, has surrounded Mr. Murphy with a thoroughly competent company, at the head of which is Dorothy Sherrod. America has no better actor than Tim Murphy, and he is more happily cast in Mr. Jeffrey's play than anything else that has fallen to his lot since his introduction to theater-goers of this country, not excepting "A Bachelor's Romance," in which he was favored with critical acclaim seldom accorded a player. He will be assisted by a fully competent company including Dorothy Sherrod, Mr. Murphy will appear in "Cupid and the Dollar" at the Kentucky theater March 10.

Think of a Business With Over Four Million Customers!

Here is an unusual opportunity to invest in a stock that pays 8% dividends—a stock that has never paid less than 7 1/2% annually during the past twenty-seven years.

You Can Be a Stockholder

In this great business. You can be one of the 27,000 other stockholders whose investments are earning 8% annually—double the interest paid by savings banks, yet the safety is beyond question.

Over 4,364,000 Patrons

This great business is the American Telephone & Telegraph Company. Perhaps you know it better as "The Bell Telephone System"—a system which penetrates every state in the Union—which serves over 4,364,000 subscribers from 5,043 Telephone Exchanges, with 8,698,697 miles of wire.

Its Immense Holdings of Stocks and Bonds

The American Telephone & Telegraph Company is one of America's stupendous enterprises. It is both an operating and a holding company. It owns a majority stock in, and exercises a virtual control over, all the city odd Bell Telephone Companies of the United States and Canada. It controls, by majority stockings, the Western Electric Company—the largest manufacturer of telephone equipment in the world, which supplies all the equipment used by the associated companies. On June 30, 1929, these holdings amounted to $536,918,822.

Another Great Source of Income

Aside from the Company's immense revenue derived from holdings of the securities of the Associated companies, it derives a large income through its direct ownership and operation of all the long distance and toll lines which connect the Associated Bell System throughout the country.

Property Holdings Valued at $589,370,000

The holding physical property amounts to $589,370,000, and exceeds all capital liabilities by approximately $500,000. Yet this surplus of assets does not include the incalculable value of rights-of-way which years ago were acquired at cost of $8,000,000, nor does it include franchises and patent rights.

Its Stupendous Earnings

During 1928 the gross earnings were $27,898,970, out of which $12,459,156 was paid in dividends. The report for the first 11 months, to November 30th, 1929, shows a large increase over 1928.

A Remarkable Dividend Record

For the past 27 years the annual dividends have never been less than 7 1/2%. The dividend rate now is 8% and has been such for the past three years. Contrast this rate with the 3% or 4% which savings banks pay and consider the enormous amount of assets which add stability and safety to the unusually large income.

Heads the List of Popular Investments

This stock, for net income yield, stands at the top of the following list of high-class investment securities. These prices are current Stock Exchange quotations on the day of this writing—February 5, 1930.

| Investment | Dividend | Price | Net |
|------------------------------------|----------|-------|-------|
| American Telephone & Telegraph Co. | 8% | 126 | 5.38% |
| New York Central Railroad | 6% | 117 | 4.27% |
| Pennsylvania Railroad | 6% | 112 | 4.56% |
| Chicago, M. & St. Paul R. R. | 6% | 112 | 4.74% |
| Chicago & North Western R. R. | 6% | 106 | 4.49% |
| Illinois Central R. R. | 6% | 140 | 5.06% |
| United States Steel Preferred | 6% | 121 | 5.79% |

A Corporation Of and For the People

The Capital Stock is $252,845,000, and is held by 26,370 stockholders, with an average of 60 shares each. 26,213 persons hold less than 1,000 shares each, so that it will be seen that no other Public Service Corporation is so widely owned by the public it serves.

An Added Inducement

An investment in the stock of the Company places investors in line to enjoy an exceptional benefit. It is the usual policy of the Company to issue new stock to its shareholders of record at par. This policy has been of great value in the past, and promises even greater future value. Ask us to explain this by letter.

Send for Complete Information

The Stock and the 4% Convertible Bonds of this Company make a desirable investment from the standpoint of safety and income yield. We shall be pleased to correspond with any having funds for investment, and will gladly send complete descriptive printed matter on request. Small orders are given equal attention with larger.

Welcome Words To Women

If, you are an intelligent thinking woman, in need of relief from weakness, nervousness, pain and suffering, then it means much to you that there is one tried and true honest square-deal medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, sold by druggists for the cure of woman's ills. The makers of

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

for the cure of weak, nervous, run-down, over-worked, debilitated, pain-racked women, knowing this medicine to be made up of ingredients, every one of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the leading and standard authorities of the several schools of practice, are perfectly willing, and in fact, are only too glad to print, as they do, the formula, or list of ingredients, of which it is composed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper. Is this not a significant fact worthy of careful consideration?

Women use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in preference to all other advocated medicines sold by druggists for their peculiar weaknesses and ailments because it is

THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs, is not anything like advertised secret compounds or patent medicines.

THE ONE REMEDY for women devised by a regularly graduated physician of vast experience in woman's ailments and carefully adapted to her delicate organism.

THE ONE REMEDY good enough that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on its outside bottle-wrapper.

It's foolish—often dangerous to be over-persuaded into accepting a secret nostrum in place of this time-proven medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

A LENTEN CONFESSION.

A woman made confession thus:
"Dear Lord, I am not brave,
I fear the final hour of death,
The darkness of the grave.

"I shrink from scenes of sorrow,
Crave for brightness everywhere;
Renunciation hurts me, and I dread the weight of care.

"I sigh for flowery beds of ease
And wish thereon to rest,
With only happy memories
To needle in my breast.

"I hunger for the beautiful,
The calm of peaceful days,
The sacredness of tender ties,
For cheering words of praise.

"And though I tremble when so frail
My nature thus I see,
I pray that knowing all, thou wilt
Be merciful to me."

D. A. R. Chapter.

Dr. Delia Caldwell was hostess to the Paducah chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Friday afternoon at her home, 725 Broadway.

Mrs. Lloyd Boswell, vice regent, presided in the absence of the regent, Mrs. M. B. Nash, who is ill. The business was largely routine. The chapter voted to contribute to the Francis Scott Key fund. This is a patriotic move to buy and maintain the home of the man who wrote
"The Star Spangled Banner."

After the business session an interesting program was rendered in celebration of "Signers' Day." A delightful paper on Thomas Jefferson, written by Mrs. David G. Murrell, was read by Mrs. Lloyd Boswell.
An attractive sketch of Richard Henry Lee, by Miss Mary Martin, was read by Mrs. Finis Lack. Both Mrs.
Murrell and Miss Martin were unable to be present. National airs were the musical features of the program.

A prettily appointed course-lunchon was served after the program.
It was a delightful meeting of the chapter.

Elks' Dance Pleasant Affair.

The Elks last evening gave another of their delightful and informal Friday night dances, which have proved so enjoyable a feature of the winter's pleasure. In addition to the Elks and their friends a number of out-of-town guests added to the pleasure of the occasion.

Brilliant Musical Event.

In bringing the Constance Balfour concert company to this city on Wednesday night, the Paducah Woman's club has undertaken a big thing in a very limited time. It was the only possible date, however, on which to secure the company and give Paducah the benefit of so notable an attraction. The Woman's club is accustomed to meet big things successfully, however, and will not fail on this occasion.

The concert company includes four notable musicians. Madame Constance Balfour herself is a soprano of much charm. She is an American, but has studied voice in this country, Paris and Berlin. Henri LaBonte, the tenor, is an American of French descent and has won splendid distinction in the musical world the past winter. Anton Navratil, the violinist, is a native of Wissowitz, Moravia, and is the son of the noted Bohemian violinist, Johann Navratil. Harriet Bacon MacDonald, the pianist, founded the Norma Trio of New York city. Her playing combines brilliancy with sympathy.

SO PROUD OF IMPROVEMENT

Lady Living Near Memphis Improved
So, From the Use of Cardui, That
It Made Her Husband
Proud.

Memphis, Tenn.—Mrs Emma D.
Looney, whose address is R. F. D.
No. 1, Box 87 A, Memphis, Tenn.,
writes:

"I hardly know how to express my gratitude for the advice you gave me.
I had suffered untold misery for nearly eight (8) years, but since taking Cardui I can truthfully say that I suffer but little pain and am able to stay out of bed.

"Since taking Cardui I have not missed a meal and am much stronger.
Many thanks to you for your advice and for your wonderful medicine Cardui. I wish I had begun using it long ago. Mr. Looney is proud of my improvement."

Be sure that Cardui will bring you strength, if you will use it regularly, for a reasonable length of time, as a tonic should be used.

You can depend on Cardui, because everybody who has tried it is enthusiastic in its praise. Cardui is advanted by its loving friends. It has stood the test of time, which few of the modern, half-tested remedies, have done.

How many of the medicines for human ills, in use half a century ago, are still in common use for the same troubles?

Very, very few—but of that few,
Cardui is one, a very important one,
because, of them all, it is the most popular, as judged by the demand and sale.

eral years ago. The students from the university had planned a demonstration against the famous St. Cath-erine's Monastery of that city and to that end had gathered in large numbers in the market place. Young Anton Navratil, the violinist with the Constance Balfour concert company to play here Wednesday next, was at that time studying the violin in Prague, and as he passed by this monastery day after day on his way to his lessons, he became acquainted with one of the monks, Father Angelo, who always greeted the young man with kind words and bestowed many a blessing on him. One day as he was passing down this road in front of the old building, he was stopped by one of the Fathers who told him that Father Angelo had died that day and that one of his last requests was, that he, Navratil, should play at the requiem mass which was to be sung that evening. He followed the Father into the monastery, thus honor the memory of the kind-hearted man whom he had come to know.

As the darkness began to lower over the city, the crowd of students became restless and after arguing the different methods of attack, finally moved out toward the monastery. On they marched until they came to its very gates, but as they came nearer the leaders paused for they heard faint strains of music coming from within, and as they listened, they recognized Schumann's "Traumerie."

A hush came over them. In the presence of death there was no thought of vandalism. They turned and went to their homes, and as they passed down the sandy road the strains of the Ave Verum were waited on the night air. And the monastery was saved.

TENT COLONY

FAVORED BY GENERAL COUNCIL
FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Regular Semi-Monthly Meeting Held at City Hall Last Night.

It was recommended by the finance committee last night that the city assist in the establishment of the tent colony by the Anti-Tuberculosis league. In the appropriation ordinance $2,500 is set aside for the purpose of erecting a contagious ward at Riverside hospital.
Several people interested in the prevention of tuberculosis were before the committee last night, and the recommendation will be placed before the members of the general council.

It is thought that private patients can be secured at the colony, and in this manner the cost could be reduced. It is proposed to send people to the colony, who have been exposed to the disease, and to attempt to cure fully developed cases. Jackson Hill, the prospective site of the colony is one of the highest hills in the county, and is considered an ideal location for the tents.

Robert Hicks, city license inspector, was elected committee clerk. His salary was fixed at $25 a month.

Daily Thought.

Hardness of heart is a dreadful quality, but it is doubtful whether in the long run it works more damage than softness of head.—Theodore Roosevelt.

The first genuine sign of spring has arrived: Hopkinsville papers are assuring us that the peach crop has been killed.

Former Governor Beckham, perhaps, is justified in thinking that "the music hall" convention couldn't be any worse than a Buckingham theater convention.

Eva Tanguay, star of the "Follies of 1909", may have been rehearsing for the "Follies of 1910" when she stuck a hat pin into the abdomen of a stage carpenter at Louisville.

Mrs. John Jacob Astor, rather than subject the family name to more publicity, accepted $50,000 a year in lieu of the $400,000 she sued for. What Paducah divorcee would do that?

When Senator Thomas, of Bourbon county, had the courage to thank God that he was still a Democrat and yet did not have to vote for the Louisville ripper bill, he distinguished himself from all the rest of the Democratic senators, which is saying something for a man.

No, gentle reader, the bill passed by the house, providing for the study of the care of the teeth in the public schools, does not intend that local dentists shall lecture to the children; but that their indulgent and long suffering parents shall buy a book on dentistry especially prepared for the occasion by the book trust.

During a discussion of the bill in the senate, providing for reading the Bible in the public schools, in the course of a long and many sided debate, displaying the erudition of the senators, the Fairbanks incident at Rome was touched upon. Is it possible that Graham Vreeland's Legislative Digest has a cable service?

We entertain the deepest sympathy for the embarrassment of Senator Jeff Davis, of Arkansas, who failed to have stricken from the records of the house committee on public lands, his own testimony, which showed that he is to receive a fee for representing the St. Francis Levee board, if a law is passed quieting the title to 100,000 acres of swamp land in Arkansas. It will be remembered, too, that Senator Ben Tillman advocated in the senate a bill, quieting the title to railroad lands on the Pacific slope, among the holders of which were himself, his wife, children and servants. Nelson A. Aldrich has never been caught at anything like this.

LET'S ASK OLLIE JAMES.

Those who believe press despatches, which said that President Taft and Joe Cannon formed a compact at the president's dinner to the speaker by which the "insurgents" are to be driven from the party, might interview Ollie James on the subject. Ollie was there, participating in the "Republican caucus".

Think of Ollie James conspiring with the president and Speaker Cannon against the "insurgents"! That is what those truthful Washington correspondents would have us believe.

Two things must be borne in mind in reading Washington despatches, and not the least of these is the source of information. The other is the bias of the publication. Magazines, which supported Roosevelt, are opposed to Taft, because he recommended a higher postal rate for them than for newspapers, which do not carry the volume of advertising or travel as far. Others wilfully, or ignorantly misunderstand him, because his problems differ from those of Roosevelt.

Roosevelt was elected president on the strength of a sentimental popularity, aroused by his striking personality and his war record. He was a preacher in the presidential chair, and he aroused the public to a consciousness of the needs of the hour. He made political capital out of his fight with the leaders of congress; but he adroitly dodged the tariff issue and left the perfection of his policies to his successor. This involves legislative enactment. Criticism is made of President Taft that half the congressional session has passed and no progressive laws are enacted; yet, they overlook the fact that the generations now living cannot remember when so much entirely new legislation was so early advanced in the hands of the committee, and not one of them can point to any constructive legislative of Roosevelt's administration.

Here is where they do President Taft injustice: the same men, who abuse him for friendship for Cannon and Aldrich, abuse him because they do not enact laws, in accordance with his recommendations. Roosevelt inaugurated the policies; Taft promised to urge their enactment. Roosevelt quarreled with Cannon and Aldrich to arouse the people in behalf of the policies, and left it to Taft to get the policies enacted into laws. To do this Taft must induce Cannon and Aldrich to support them. They are elected, not from the country at large, but from their respective districts and state, and they are in congress, and they are leaders of congress through the law of natural selection—they are gifted to lead. It is not a sentimental obligation to denounce legislators, but a practical obligation to secure the votes of these legislators for his policies, that rests on President Taft. It is to that task he has set himself, and the strength of his character is shown in the fact, that he is not afraid of the criticisms that blow on him today, knowing that success in his undertaking will change the direction of the wind before another presidential election comes around.

The dinner to the speaker follows the precedent of President Roosevelt. Joe Cannon, for the dignity of the house, declined to permit the supreme justices to take precedence over him at white house functions; so President Roosevelt gave him a dinner of his own, attended by personal friends. That is all there is to that incident.

PARTIES AND REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT.

It is not difficult to see the result of error, and explanations are always handy; but it requires some effort of the mind to discover the cause of error and time and trouble to remedy the fault. That, perhaps, is why we have been so slow to reform our political methods. Take Kentucky for example. It is a Democratic state. When matters reached so serious a pass, that between the Hargraves and Callahans in the mountains and the night riders in the tobacco country, a league of lawlessness was encompassing the state, and not altogether the most representative citizens of the commonwealth were being attracted to politics anywhere, then the people revolted and elected the present administration, and patriotic Democrats breathed a sigh of relief and declared they had lifted from their party an incubus. The next session of the legislature showed them their error. With a majority in the legislature, the instructions of the Democratic state primary were ignored and with the final destruction of the old state machine, which was formally announced at the succeeding convention to select delegates to the national convention, another machine came into power.

The rural constituents were interested in a county unit bill and sent men to the present legislature pledged to vote for it. They were chagrined to see their representatives, whose written pledge they hold, boldly vote against the measure and offer no word of apology or explanation. People are honestly divided on that issue, of course, and it is only the moral tergiversation involved in the conduct of a man, who will promise to do a thing and then refuse to perform it, that fascinates our attention. Who is responsible? It is so easy to say the "whiskey ring". That is an explanation, which seems satisfactory, and saves the vexation of thinking; but with very little effort we can study the whole course of legislation, and by correlating issues quickly determine what combination holds the balance of power and what measures it supports and what it opposes. This ought to tell us, who is responsible for the defeat of the county unit, to which the Democratic party stands pledged, and show the rank and file of the party what influence is in command.

The two measures that attracted the most attention during the whole session and that called forth all the activities of the rules committee and the lobby in holding back the one and pushing forward the other, were the county unit bill and the Louisville ripper bill. The same forces that retarded the one promoted the other, and the latter was rushed through the house by a trick of altering the calendar, and through the senate by a rump session presided over by Conn Linn after the lieutenant governor had adjourned the sitting.

The Louisville ripper bill, of course, interests no one excepting the Louisville machine, and if that machine is able to invoke the heartiest activities of the legislative organization in behalf of its private interests to the neglect of every other interest, is it not reasonable to assume, that the same machine is the one that put the reverse English on the county unit bill?

In other words it is apparent that the Democratic party in throwing off the shackles of a machine of state wide membership, made an ally, and then a master of a machine that is limited in its interests to the graft of Louisville and Frankfort, and that will operate the state capitol, if it succeeds in the next state election, as an adjunct to the Louisville city hall and the Jefferson county court house.

The people don't like this. The state press reflects the sentiment of every section against this usurpation. The flagrant insult to the manhood of Kentucky flung out by this legislature in its violation of pledges, waste of public funds, disregard of the state's credit and notorious bribery, is not to be endured; yet there is something wrong in the underlying principle of party organization when such things can be done. Kentucky is not alone in this condition. Decisions elsewhere are studying the problem of how parties may be made to reflect and express the will of the majority; which is the end and the purpose of party.

STATE PRESS.

Wheeler for Governor.

The Livingston Banner is wanting Hon. Charles K. Wheeler, of Paducah, to be a candidate for governor. We do not know whether he contemplates being a candidate or not, but if he does he will be a strong one among west Kentucky Democrats.—Mayfield Messenger.

Political Pandering.

The joint military committee of the Kentucky legislature submitted its report last week and takes occasion to arraign Governor Wilson for his use of the state militia to suppress night riding in western Kentucky at a heavy expense to the state.

The committee's report clearly shows a political pandering to the right riders and is much to be regretted, for it is a disgrace to the Democratic party of Kentucky.—Clinton Gazette.

Stands in the Law.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for the governor of Kentucky to put down lawlessness, the civil authorities have failed to do so, then we want to go on record as being a supporter of the governor, be he Democrat, Republican or what not, the report of the senatorial investigating committee to the contrary notwithstanding.—Carlisle County News.

Saw It Coming.

When the Democratic hosts were flocking to Louisville last summer to eat of the Whallen barbecue we warned them that they had better have a care as there was death in the Whallen pot. They went though, and took their burgoo from the same cup that was used by the Buckingham Boss. Alas, at this late day, many of them are finding that they quaffed a poisoned draught. The alliance formed with the Louisville boss while partaking of the latter's mess of pottage has already shown its disastrous effects. It permitted Whallen and the liquor trust to get full and complete control of the Democratic party.—Bluegrass Clipper.

Pinchot Versus Wilson.

It is not at all necessary to animadvert upon Secretary Wilson, or to feel the slightest lack of confidence in his perfect sincerity, in order to accept as true Mr. Pinchot's account of the conferences which occurred between them prior to his writing his now famous letter to Senator Dilliver, and thereby writing his official death warrant.

Secretary Wilson, the dean of the cabinet, has endeavored himself to the public by faithful service in a position of importance. There is no reason to believe that, whatever instructions he may have given to Mr. Pinchot, he is not quite sincere and quite accurate in sticking to his assertion that he never intended to be party to any attempt to make a public criticism of the president a part of Mr. Pinchot's conservation activities.—Courier-Journal.

Still Another Blow.

When the present general assembly met, the prospects of the Kentucky Democracy were brighter than they had been for many years. The real Democrats who had failed to support the state ticket in 1907 were apparently convinced of their error, and in the 1909 election had come back home, glad of an opportunity to make such reparation as they could for having, either directly or indirectly, helped to turn the state over to the Republicans. Everything pointed to an old fashioned Democratic victory in 1911. But when the general assembly convened the preparation of the rules of the senate was entrusted to a sub-committee much more interested in the defeat of the county unit bill and other matters of legislation than they were in the success of the Democratic party. This sub-committee reported a set of rules that would make Joe Cannon blush for shame, and attempted to force them on the senate without a vote on the advice of the Whallen-Courier-Journal candidate for governor.

This of itself made a heavy enough handicap for the party to carry in the next election, but added to this was the conduct of certain Democratic senators who had pledged themselves in writing to support the county unit bill, either openly violating their pledges or dodging a vote on questions pertaining to the advancement of the bill.

And now, in the closing days of the session, another blow has been struck the party by the tactics used in passing the "ripper bill." The methods adopted by the majority in order to pass this bill constitute another burden for the party to carry in the next campaign. These methods were both inexcusable and unnecessary. The press of the country, barring such papers as habitually suppress the news, carried the whole story yesterday, and repetition of it would be unnecessary. We will say in passing that it would be a waste of time to try to have the senate journal show the proceedings were regular, as the matter will, of course, be thrashed out in the courts, and all the facts made public.

The blow is a staggering one for the party. We hope to break its force somewhat by repudiating such methods. And we call on the Democratic press of the state, and the Democracy that has not bowed the knee to the Whallen-Linn-Combs-Johnson-Courier-Journal combination to speak out, as it has been doing, and declare that the party does not stand for these things.—Kentucky State Journal.

ate, a man whose knowledge of constitutional law is unusual, and who has demonstrated a ready ability in interpreting the rules by which the upper chamber is governed.

The other Democrat who stood with Senator Thomas was Senator Elza Bertram, of Clinton county. Senator Bertram was also one of the original thirteen insurgents to vote against the gag rule. He owes his election to Republican support in a constituency that had not sent a Democrat to Frankfort in twenty-five years until it chose Mr. Bertram by a narrow majority of thirteen votes. Mr. Bertram doubtless realizes that under the circumstances servile allegiance to his party machine would be both poor politics and a betrayal of his constituents.

Senator Prichard, of Boyd county, had the decency to refrain from voting. He also hails from a close district.

Inevitable Consequence.

The opinion is growing that the policy pursued by the Democratic organization at this season will eventually result in a radical insurgent movement within the ranks of the party against those who have assumed control. It is known that Congressman Ben Johnson is the Whallen "Third House" nominee for governor, and that a slate of like character and sympathies is being framed to complete the ticket. Ben Johnson's admitted antagonism to temperance legislation is the reason of his popularity with the "Third House." Open-minded Democrats, however, are pointing out that his acceptability with the organized lobby on this question makes him equally dangerous on all other questions that may invite "Third House" antagonism. In fact it is now being urged that no man who has obtained the approval of the "Third House" on any issue is a fit person to hold office in Kentucky.

The disposition is to make the fight along these lines, rather than to narrow it to a fight on the county unit question alone. It is felt that a broader platform is thus constructed for men of patriotic purposes to stand upon. Even those who are not aggressive advocates of temperance legislation it is believed would be ready to unite with a movement looking to the restoration of responsible government in the state.

The friends of such a movement are casting about for a strong man to lead it, and it is probable the occasion will develop him. Some are inclined to think he has already appeared on the horizon in the person of Claude Thomas. Senator Thomas is not seeking any preferment at the hands of his party, but it is thought he would accept the responsibility of leadership in a warfare so necessary and so patriotic.

It is recognized that the coming fight will be a strenuous one. The Republicans will take every advantage of the feeling that has been created throughout the state by the conduct of the legislature. Men of shrewd political insight are insisting that Ben Johnson cannot carry the state, and they urge the need of the Democrats of Kentucky, who are not under the dictation of the Buckingham theater, getting together on a candidate who will be clean of machine influence and in sympathy with the sentiment of the people.

CAPT. W. C. CLARK CANNOT RECOVER

POSTMASTER HERE UNDER CLEVELAND.

Capt. William C. Clark, of 1311 Broadway, who has been seriously ill several weeks, as a result of a general physical breakdown, suffered a relapse this morning and his condition this afternoon is very grave. He is not expected to survive the day, although his physician says he may linger for some time.

Last year Captain Clark was struck by a Broadway street car and since that time he has been feeble. Owing to his advanced age all hope for his recovery has been abandoned. Captain Clark has resided here since the close of the Civil war, in which he defended the Confederate flag. He was formerly representative to the legislature from Graves county and also served two appointments as postmaster at Paducah, under Cleveland's administration. He is widely known.

Mrs. Vedia Griggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wilkins, of Ashcraft avenue, Paducah, died at her home at Palma, Ky., at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She was the wife of Matt Griggs and well known here. Mrs. Griggs was just 17 years old and death was the result of a short illness of pneumonia. She is survived by one brother and three sisters. The funeral will be held this afternoon and burial will be at Pleasant Grove cemetery, Marshall county.

On complaint from his father at Princeton, J. B. Woods, 16 years old, was taken into custody by Patrolmen Smith and Shrader last night near Fourth street and Broadway and placed in the detention cell in the city jail to await the arrival of his father on the 4:15 o'clock train this afternoon.

No charge has been made against the youth, although it is said he left home several weeks ago and has been obtaining money by drawing checks on his father. Mr. Woods learned of his son's whereabouts and asked the police to hold him until he arrives. The young man is said to have attempted to cash a check at a local store yesterday, but his father told the firm not to honor the instrument. Woods will be taken back to Princeton and given a "heart to heart" talk by his father.

Many a great hope is erected on a small foundation.

NEWS OF COURTS

In Bankruptcy.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed in the federal court at Louisville by J. D. Eades, of Birmingham. Burns & Burns are his attorneys.

Largest Damage Verdict.

The largest verdict for damages given at this term of civil court was returned in the suit of Mrs. Etta Long, of Mayfield, against the Palmer Transfer company, when she received a judgment for $1,000 damages. Mrs. Long alleged she was a passenger in one of the company's cabs July 8, 1909, and was en route to the Union station when the driver left the horses for a few minutes, and a runaway resulted, and she was injured. She sued for $5,000.

The suit of Edmond Clark against W. C. O'Bryan was dismissed without prejudice. The plaintiff rented a house at 525 South Third street, and made repairs costing $133. According to a contract said to have been made the defendant was to pay the cost, and the suit was filed alleging non-payment.

In Circuit Court.

Only a short session of circuit court was held this morning, as there were no cases on the docket set for trial today. Next week the trials will continue. In a short time the jury cases will be completed. This has been one of the biggest dockets for civil court in several years.

A motion for a new trial was filed by the defendant in the suit of Mrs. Etta Long against the Palmer Transfer company.

An affidavit was filed in the suit of W. J. Lewis against Cecil Reed, master commissioner, asking that the governor appoint a special judge to try the case. Judge Reed is the father of the defendant.

Oil In Lamp Ignites.

Oil in a lamp caught fire last night about 10 o'clock at the residence of Mr. J. Morgan, 920 Jones street. Some children were in the room when the lamp became too hot, and the flames flared up. The children retained presence of mind and threw the lamp out a window. Fireman Perry Story was on watch at the No. 4 fire station, which is across the street, and heard the screams. He rushed across the street, and extinguished the fire. No damage was done to the house. Last week a can of gasoline caught fire in the house.

THE LEGISLATURE

hand, and it remains to be seen whether the Democratic machine will continue its policy of opposition to its every move. The next ten days of the session, which will bring it to a close, will be full of possibilities.

A message from the governor placed before the senate the full report of the prison investigation by State Inspector Thatcher, with the report that the testimony taken be printed.

Senator Thomas moved that the matter be printed.
Senator Linn here became an economist, arguing that printing will cost $4,000. He wanted the testimony turned over to the prison committee to ascertain the cost of printing.

The first two volumes had gone to the charitable institution committee, so the senate sent the second installment to that committee to report Monday next on the cost of printing.

Monument to Morgan.

Senator Linn, of the rules committee, here called from the orders of the day senate bill 63, and asked that it be placed on its passage.

Senator Combs explained the bill as a Daughters of the Confederacy measure to secure from the state treasury $7,500, to erect a monument to Gen. John H. Morgan. Senator Cureton said he hoped the senate would adopt the bill, and he wants to live to see the day a monument will be raised here on the capital grounds to Lincoln and Davis. It passed—28 to 0.

Senator Creton obtained consent to introduce a bill appropriating a gift of $1,000 to the national rivers and harbors congress.

In the Lower House.

The house of representatives passed another of the many bills introduced at this session and strongly endorsed by the farmers. It is house bill 79 (Owings), providing for the destruction of carcasses of swine, dying from cholera or other diseases. The vote was 71 to 0.

House bill 170 (Buford), authorizing the judge of the Franklin circuit court to appoint a commission of a state fiscal court, was viewed with suspicion at first, and caused quite a discussion. While many conceded that the bill is a meritorious one, yet there was objection to the appointment by a circuit judge. The bill passed, 54 to 24.

Home of Incubables.

The house went into a committee of the whole to hear Mrs. Stucky, of Louisville, who spoke in favor of the appropriation for the Home of Incubables at Louisville. She was given the most courteous hearing and she was enthusiastically applauded. Mr. Owens, Col. Jack Chinn and Mr. G. W. Reid spoke strongly for the bill. Col. Chinn said it ought to be $20,000, although but $10,000 is asked. Mr. Fulton sought to amend it by cutting down the amount to $5,000. The amendment was defeated. The bill then was passed 71 to 10.

The house passed the Hines bill, providing that care of teeth must be taught in the public schools. There was considerable opposition to the bill. It was charged, but not on the floor of the house, that the American School Book company is back of the bill.

In County Court.

The will of Frances E. Langstaff was filed and probated. She asked that no inventory of her estate be taken, and named George Langstaff as executor. Mr. Langstaff qualified as executor.

The Facts About Pe-ru-na.

Is Peruna an alcoholic beverage in disguise? Is it possible to use Peruna as a substitute for whiskey? Do people buy Peruna and use it as a toddy, or a bitters, or a bracer?

It would be the easiest thing in the world for any one to demonstrate the falsity of such statements. Let any one go to the drug store and purchase a bottle of Peruna. Let him undertake to use it as a beverage, or take this remedy in doses considerably larger than those prescribed on the bottle. Would the result be alcoholic intoxication? Nothing of the sort. Let any one try it and see.

Peruna is a medicinal compound quite heavily loaded with medicinal ingredients. If taken in doses larger than prescribed it would produce a positive drug effect. No one could take it as a beverage. If any one doubts these statements, try it and see. We know that Peruna cannot be used as a beverage; that it will not intoxicate; that it cannot be used as a substitute for liquors. We guarantee that PERUNA CONTAINS NO CHEAP WHISKEY—OR ANY OTHER WHISKEY, for that matter.

It contains a small per cent. of cologne spirits, absolutely essential to dissolve and hold in solution medicinal ingredients, but the drugs contained in Peruna prohibit its use as a beverage. It would be the easiest thing in the world for any one to demonstrate this if they chose to do so.

Peruna is sold everywhere. THE INGREDIENTS ARE PLAINLY PRINTED ON EACH BOTTLE. It has been said over and over again that chemists have analyzed Peruna and found it to contain only cubebs and whiskey. Now we challenge any chemist to demonstrate any such statement. Let any one who has even a smattering knowledge of chemistry purchase a bottle of Peruna and see whether or not it contains whiskey, find out for himself whether or not it is composed of cheap whiskey and cubebs. Of course, cubebs is one of the ingredients of Peruna, but there are many other ingredients. It contains hydrastis canadensis, corydalis formosa, collinsonia, and at least four other medicinal ingredients. To be sure, no chemist could so analyze Peruna as to be able to identify the various medicinal ingredients. This is beyond the ability of any chemist. But any ordinary chemist would be able to say that Peruna is heavily loaded with medicinal ingredients of some kind in addition to cubebs.

Now why are these statements repeated when their falsity could be so easily demonstrated? Simply because there is continued hostility toward Peruna on the part of the medical profession. Very likely the magazines which took up the crusade against Peruna and denounced it as a cheap beverage were misled by statements of the medical profession. Probably they were sincere in their attitude towards it. But now, after all these things have been said and refuted, it would seem to be in order for such people to use a little fairness and common sense in the matter.

Every time any one says that Peruna is nothing but cheap whiskey and cubebs he is telling a lie, an absolute falsehood. Most people intend to speak the truth. But the prevalent habit of repeating other people's statements, without investigation as to their truth, has led many well-meaning people to say these false things about Peruna.

Used according to the directions on the bottle, PERUNA IS A SAFE AND RELIABLE CATARRH REMEDY, but, like any other good medicine, if taken in excess of those doses, it will produce drug effects very unpleasant to the person who takes it.

It is therefore up to every honest person to quit making such statements concerning Peruna, or acknowledge that he is repeating slanders about which he knows nothing. One might just as well say that Castor Oil is an intoxicant; that if taken in large enough doses it will operate as a "booze." If people never tried to see, but simply repeated such statements about Castor Oil, the majority of people would come to believe them. It is no easier to demonstrate such a statement about Castor Oil than it would be about Peruna.

Any one who takes Peruna knows that such statements are false. To say that Peruna is cheap whiskey and cubebs may constitute good material for jokes on the vaudeville stage, but there is no excuse for any one who pretends to be truthful saying over again this oft-repeated falsehood.

S.S.S. RIDES THE SYSTEM OF CATARRH

Catarrh comes as a result of impurities and morbid matter in the circulation, and is a disease that only attacks mucous membrane. The entire inner portion of the body is lined with a delicate skin or covering of soft, sensitive flesh. Thousands of tiny blood vessels are interlaced throughout this mucous surface, and it is through these that the inner membrane receives its nourishment and is kept in healthful condition. When, however, the blood becomes infected with catarrhal impurities the tissues become diseased and Catarrh gets a foothold in the system. The early stages of Catarrh are characterized by such symptoms as a tight, stuffy feeling in the head, watery eyes, buzzing noises in the ears, with partial deafness and often difficult breathing and chronic hoarseness. These are merely symptoms, and while sprays, inhalations and other local treatment may temporarily relieve them, Catarrh cannot be cured until the blood is purified of the exciting cause. S.S.S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impure catarrhal matter. It goes down into the circulation and attacks the disease at its head, and removes every particle of the catarrhal impurity. Then the mucous linings are all supplied with fresh, pure blood, and allowed to heal, instead of being kept in a constant state of irritation by the catarrhal matter. Special book on Catarrh and any medical advice free.

JOHN D. JR., CHIEF ALMONER

BELIEVED BULK OF FORTUNE
WILL GO TO CHARITY.

As Conditions Demand, Funds Will Be Diverted—Relation to Wall Street.

GIFT IS TO BE UNTRAMMELED

New York, March 5.—Among charities the new Rockefeller foundation is to become what the Standard Oil company long has been among corporations, and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., as its head, will in another sphere of influence perpetuate the domination so long maintained in the world of industry by John D. Rockefeller, Sr., as president of the Standard Oil. The younger Rockefeller announced today that he had recently retired from the directorate of the Standard Oil company to assume the management of his father's benefactions, of which he thus becomes almoner-in-chief. No successor has been named to fill his place in the oil company.

The announcement in Wall street was taken to mean two things—that all past estimates of Young Rockefeller's future must now be revised, and that hereafter Rockefeller millions will no longer be a market factor. Instead, it is assumed that they will pass wholly into conservative securities; such as it is proper for trust funds, saving banks and insurance companies to acquire.

Young Rockefeller Capable.
John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is now 33 years of age. Greeted on his graduation from Brown university, some years ago, as in prospect the richest young man in the world, he a long time with kidney and bladder trouble and have used several well known kidney medicines all of which gave me no relief until I started taking Foley's Kidney Pills. Before I used Foley's Kidney Pills I was subjected to severe backache and pains in my kidneys with suppression and oftentimes a cloudy voiding. While upon arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley's Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and once more feel like my own self. All this I owe solely to Foley's Kidney Pills and always recommend them to my fellow sufferers.—Gilbert's Drug Store.

Seen in retrospect, young Rockefeller's retirement from the Standard Oil board, which actually took place on January 11, assumes greater consistency with the gradual narrowing in recent years of his financial activities—a phenomenon not heretofore understood, as he showed no inclination to play the country gentleman or the sporting man, as have other sons of millionaires, such, for instance, as Alfred Vanderbilt and Foxhall Keene. He is still on the directorate of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company and of the American Linseed Oil company, but it is known that it is his intention to withdraw from these corporations as soon as practicable. His relations with corporate finance in the future, it is understood, will chiefly consist in conserving the huge fortune amassed by his father, reinvesting the income and distributing such part of it as may seem wise.

It is not thought likely the new foundation for philanthropy, as proposed by the bill introduced in the United States senate yesterday, will assume settled policies for years to come, but in this connection Frederick T. Gates, one of the incorporators of the foundation, said today that two main points had been missed.

"In the first place," indicated Mr. Gates, "every other eleemosynary institution has been organized for some specific object, and thus limited in its sphere of helpfulness. For instance, in cases of grave disaster, such as the Paris floods, they have been powerless to aid. This is not so of the new foundation.

Gifts Non-Sectarian.
"Another thing—there are no sectarian boundary lines in the charter of the new foundation, and nothing to prevent it from absorbing the work of other organizations which have outlived their usefulness under present conditions."

Mr. Gates was understood to mean that there will be a gradual merger, along familiar Rockefeller lines, of the Rockefeller charities. Nobody yet ventures to name the amount for which the foundation will be endowed, but the general understanding among those in the confidence of the family coincides with that of Senator Gallinger, who introduced the bill to incorporate the foundation, when he said he believed ultimately the bulk of the Rockefeller fortune would be devoted to the work.

John D. Rockefeller's influence in the stock market was a potent one during the 1907 panic when he helped out many financial institutions, as well as supported the securities at that time. Presumably his fortune will continue to be of some influence at similar times in the future, but it is said that ordinarily it is likely to be felt in the stock market only through purchases of securities for the purpose of investment already accrued.

A Night Alarm.
Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the metallic cough of croup. Careful mothers keep Foley's Honey and Tar in the house and give it at the first sign of danger. Foley's Honey and Tar has saved many little lives. No opiates.—Gilbert's Drug Store.

ITCHING SCALP

Easy to Get Rid of By Using Parisian Sage, the Guaranteed Hair Invigorator.

Just as long as you have dandruff your head will itch. It's the little microbes that are gnawing down into the hair roots. It may take a long time for these persistent pests to get down to the vital part, but when they do, they will destroy the life of the hair in a very short time.

If you want to stop itching scalp and drive away dandruff, you must first kill the dandruff germs or microbes.

Parisian Sage will do this. Just get a 50c bottle today; relief will come immediately, and if at the end of two weeks your itching scalp and dandruff have not disappeared, you can have your money back.

Parisian Sage is also a delightful hair tonic, and is used by refined women who desire fascinating, lustreous and luxuriant hair. A large bottle only costs 50 cents at Gilbert's drug store. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle.

"How Sharper Than a Serpent's Tooth."

An irritable old farmer and his up-gainly, slouching son were busy grubbing sprouts one hot, sultry day, when the old man suddenly stumbled over a small stump.

"Gosh darn that everlasting stump!" he exclaimed. "I wish it was in hell!"

The son slowly straightened up from his work and gazed reproachfully at his father.

"Why, you oughtn't to say that, pap," he drawled. "You might stumble over that stump ag'in some day."

The Old, Old Cure.

A moderately fond father discovered his young hopeful reading a dime novel.

"Unhand me, villain," the detected boy thundered, "or there will be bloodshed."

"No," said the father grimly, tightening his hold on his son's collar. "Not bloodshed—woodshed"—Everybody's.

Numerous Whippings.
From November 30, 1908, to November 30, 1909, the records of the Frankfort penitentiary show that there have been administered to prisoners a total of 4,868 whippings, or an annual average of 541; that there have been administered a total of 88,743 lashes, or an annual average of 9,860. Also, that during said period, of the total number of whippings, 1,708, or over one-third, have been administered for short tasks and bad work, an average of 190 per year. In my judgment, every one of these lashes is a testimonial of our present system of obsolete and semi-barbarous prison laws; and that each is an argument for enlightened statutes abolishing the contract labor system; providing for indeterminate sentences, and wise parole regulations; placing the management of these institutions under non-political boards, granting to the prisoners and their families a substantial portion of their earnings; and providing for the education of all prisoners in letters and trades. With these laws on our statute books, prison discipline can, in my judgment, be maintained without the necessity of the lash, and mentally, morally and physically those confined for the commission of felonies will be benefited to a degree that is utterly impossible under present conditions. If, under the suggested laws these benign results are being accomplished in Indiana and other states, there is no reason why they cannot be accomplished in Kentucky.

Prisons Run at Loss.

Mr. Thatcher finds that for ten years, beginning November 30, 1898, the penitentiaries have been a source of loss and not profit to the state, notwithstanding the claims of the prison commissioners, the cost to the state having been in the ten years $298,422.89.

He finds the methods of keeping accounts in the two prisons and the house of reform a uniform accounting system, afford a complete check of the accounts of the auditor's and prison commissioners' offices against those of each institution.

What Prisoners Must Do.

"The tasks"—that is to say, the amount of work exacted of prisoners as a day's labor of ten hours—at the two penitentiaries, are less than are required of free labor under substantially similar shop conditions. That prison tasks should be substantially less than free labor tasks because prisoners have, on the average, neither the skill, intelligence, nor incentive, of free laborers. That a considerable number of prisoners at both institutions make their tasks with comparative ease; that for some the tasks are difficult, and that many new or nonintelligent prisoners cannot make them. That to some extent there prevails the practice of payment by prisoners of small sums to other prisoners for help in accomplishing their tasks. That more than one-third of the corporal punishments that have been administered in the past nine years have been administered for a failure to make "tasks" and "bad work." That the tasks are prescribed by the contractors, but are subject to modification or reduction by the prison authorities, upon observation as to what the prisoners are able to perform.

The inspector pays a high compliment to former Warden George Chinn, of whom he says: "Warden Chinn was imbued with a high spirit of integrity in conducting the affairs of the Frankfort penitentiary, thinking only of the interests of the prisoners and the state. That he made some mistakes, due to a lack of previous experience in prison work and to a failure to exercise a proper degree of tact; but I believe these matters were magnified by those opposed to him. That there was more or less laxity of discipline during his wardenship; that such a condition to a considerable extent obtained when he became warden, and it took time to eradicate it; that a contributory and material cause thereof was the fact that he, on the one side, and the prison commissioners and the Hoge-Montgomery company on the other, came to be and remained at cross purposes because of the Madison transactions, which fact occasioned a lack of support to him

Longfellow's Feet.
Henry van Dyke's recent conference at the University of Paris are published by Macmillan under the title "The Spirit of America." Dr. van Dyke repeated to his French audience the story, doubtless apocryphal, that the English poet Tennyson, once said he was glad that he had never met Longfellow, because he "would not have liked to see the American poet put his feet upon the table." If the story is true, Dr. van Dyke finds it "to laugh." He says: "For nothing could be more unlike the super-refined Longfellow than to put his feet in the wrong place, either on the table or in his verse."—Exchange.
